1. THE UNIVERSITY

1.1.History

AUR, founded in 1969 as an institution for study-abroad students, was incorporated in the District of Columbia in 1970. It was licensed by the Education Licensure Commission of the District of Columbia in 1986 to offer Bachelor and Associate Degrees and graduated its first class in 1987. It is currently licensed by the Delaware Department of Education. AUR is the oldest degree-granting American university in Rome. It has been accredited by the Middle States Commission on Higher Education (MSCHE) since March 2010 and was previously accredited by the Accrediting Council for Independent Colleges and Schools (ACICS) from August 1992, until it voluntarily withdrew in June 2010. In Italy, AUR is registered as a legal entity with the Rome Tribunal and it is authorized to operate in Italy by the Ministry of Education, Universities and Research.

Since 1969, The American University of Rome has provided an American liberal arts and pre-professional education to students from across the globe seeking an extraordinary educational experience. It is the oldest American degree-granting institution in Rome, Italy, and currently offers 10 Bachelor degrees and 3 Master degrees. All programs (except Italian language classes) are taught in English.

The American University of Rome is a small, internationally recognized liberal arts university, offering undergraduate degree programs of the highest quality to students from all over the world. It is a first-choice university for students seeking an international learning experience through well-established programs and as a destination for study abroad students. AUR excels in international higher education by partnering with renowned education institutions in the U.S. to provide a range of exciting and challenging programs that meet the needs of study abroad students and are fully integrated with their home institution's programs.

Embodying a global breadth of vision in its work, The American University of Rome is firmly rooted in the local community, with strong links to Italian and European institutions. Its highly qualified faculty are active researchers with established or growing reputations and expert teachers using the best pedagogy to create the most effective learning environments.

Study abroad students return to their home institutions enriched and inspired by the distinctive AUR experience, while our graduates become globally conscious leaders and ambassadors for cross-cultural understanding.

Overlooking the historical center of Rome, The American University of Rome is a traditional American university located on top of the Eternal City's highest hill, offering a spectacular view of the city and the surrounding hills.

The defining aspects of the programs taught at AUR are:

- All programs combine theoretical understanding with practical experience and classes are often taught on-site throughout Rome, Italy and beyond
- Abundant opportunities to gain real-world work experience through internships with national and international commercial companies and NGOs. 85% of our graduates are employed full time or participating in post-graduate study.
- AUR has a relatively small student body of just over 500 undergraduate and postgraduate students. Classes have a low student to staff ratio, creating an intimate learning environment and engendering in-depth discussions in the classroom.

As an international, multi-cultural university that recruits students and faculty from across the globe, The American University of Rome understands that diversity is fundamental to our institutional success and delivery on Mission and Vision. It stands as one of the five pillars of our University Strategic Plan.

We place great value on the academic, social, and broader community benefits that arise from a diverse community. We embrace DEI principles and policies by actively working to eliminate discrimination in hiring, student recruitment, and in day-to-day operations. And we actively strive to maintain equitable and inclusive conditions for the success of diverse individuals, for the free and frank expression of diverse ideas, and for the vitality of AUR's learning community.

1.3.Mission and Goals

Mission

The American University of Rome prepares students to live and work across cultures as skilled and knowledgeable citizens of an interconnected and rapidly changing world. AUR is a private, independent, not-for-profit institution of higher education, primarily offering undergraduate liberal arts and professional programs to degree-seeking and study abroad students from around the world.

Taking the best of the American approach to interdisciplinary, student-centered learning, our international faculty and staff use Rome as our classroom and Italy and Europe as invaluable resources. AUR's innovative programs promote intellectual excellence, personal growth and an appreciation of cultural diversity in an international environment.

Goals

The goals of The American University of Rome emanate from its culture of assessment and continuous improvement and innovation as it strives to be known as a leader among American universities outside of the United States.

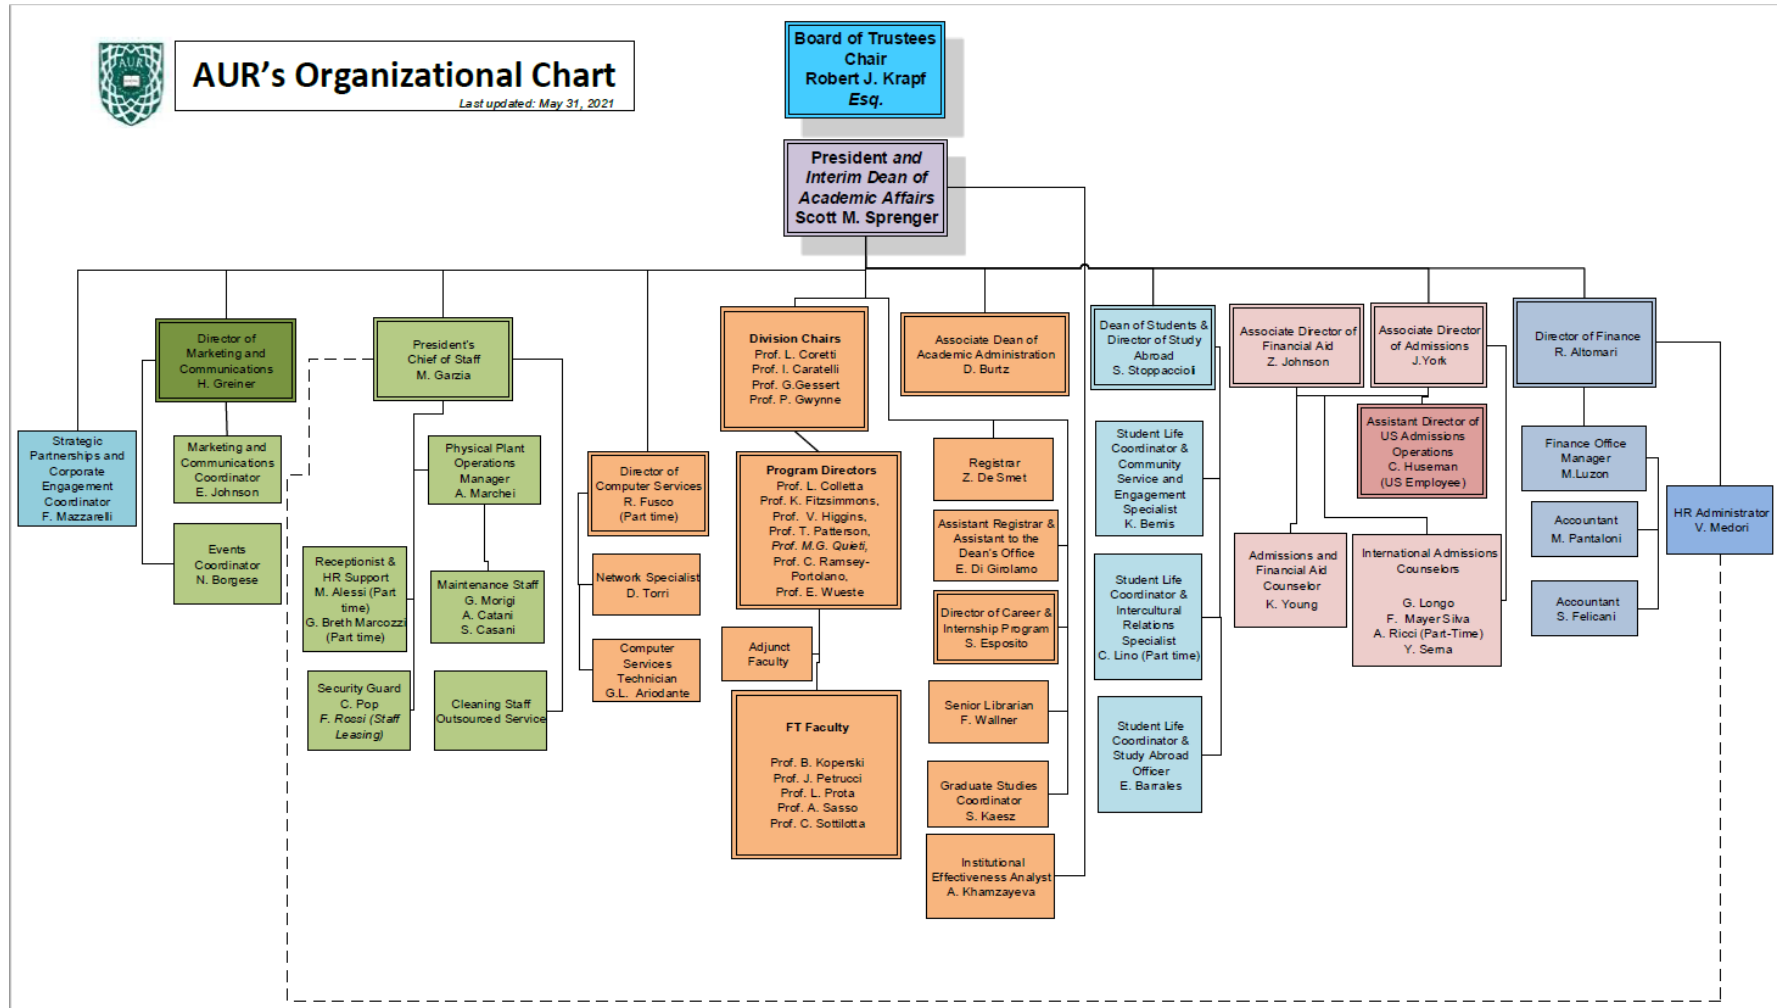

Primary among its goals is the quality of its liberal arts and professional academic programs, taught by a highly qualified international faculty and supported by advanced learning resources and technology so that student learning will reach the highest levels of excellence.

Enrollment and development plans seek to maintain a globally diverse student body. Through the curriculum, faculty scholarship, co-curricular activities, and campus life, the AUR approach broadens perspectives and enables communication across cultures.

The University uses the cultural, social, and experiential opportunities of Rome, Italy and Europe as resources for its growing range of programs.
